Faw more brilliant marriages have taken place in Memphis than the one witnessed last evening at the First Methodist church in this c.ty. The approaching marriage of the parties was made the topic of gereni conversation in social circles, and for several days the city papers commented on the event. We allude to the nupils of Mr. B. M. Stratt in and Miss Emma Blythe Avery, both or this city. Memphis is proud of Hon, William T. Avery, and his daughter is beloved and admired by the entire community in which she was born and raised, and as Mr. Stratton is recognized as a raise young be iness man, and has many friends and relations in our midst, it was not surprising that there should be a complimentary discussion of the al-acsorbing theme. If this is true, gentlemen whom be attempts to applicated are alone to blame; these same gentlemen for several years have made Barbour Lewis's office their priliteal bar rocm, and from there denounced all kepublicaus who would not fall down and worship him as botters and Democrats. This association, with most of them, has been for quite a number of years, and the claim of decency and respectability on their part, or your correspondent "Arkansus," has the samel and smack of disappointed office-seekers. Where is the consistence to the claim of respectability of any ore of our Barbour. Let us go into detail. Kortrecht, four or five years sgo, refused to be a candid the sgainst Morgan, as he stated the would sconer live and die in obscurity than run on a Republican ticket in this community, in which he had lived so ong;" since then, or a few years, he has been a bosom if lead and advisor, with the Federal ring, of Barbour Lewis; Randolph has a finar-sensand view of the situation, and tried, but could not throw off the yöke which bound him; Holl has consented to act more independently since this same political exment secured him his recent appointment to office. This whole Federal ring owe all they possess to the great Barbour, who me they are now so willing to denounce. Why is this? One thing is p aid and evident, and actions speak ouder than word: Barbour has controlled the colored vote to him elf. They now wish to form an all lance to secure these same voters to perpetuate their power, and rob Barbour of woat ne has possessed. Many of the office-holders. Many of the affice-holders, a few fewrs *go, were very poor; Barbour made learn floh in this wold's goods. Every R publican who did not indorse their "political barroom ring" was thrown overboard; hence, such men as Judge Bigelow, Vernon, Marsh, Louis, Lakit, Buttinghaus, Beecher, with a good many colored citizens, have been refused recognition as Republicans. The hypothetical reasoning of your correspondent, that the defeat of Judge Lewis by his former intimats associates (whom he applauds so much), is creating a palitical power as much creaded as Barbour Lewis; hence those who have not connected themselves with the Democratic party look upon his movement with a good deal of suspicion. Cole's Hippodrome, Circus and Me nagerie. As already stated, this great show ex hibits in Memphis next Monday and Tuesday October 2d and 3d. It is undoubtedly one of the grandest and most interesting ever organ-ized, and has drawn crowded tents in every city, where it, exhibited. The Louisville sireet stores yesterday afternoon and obtained a variety of goods on the statement that she was the niece of half a dozen prominent merized, and has drawn crowded tents in every city where it exhibited. The Louisville Courier-Journal says of its exhibition in that city last week: "The attendance at the circus chapts. One can easily understand the attraction a show exerts on the youthful mind, where a barren common is covered in a few ho'rs by an immense canvas, put up as if by magic, and concealing mysterious wonters; but why it can attract several the usand people of all conditions of life, is a problem that can't be explained by flaming bill posters, or the narticulars to be found in small bills. or the particulars to be found in small bils. It seems to be a sort of religious outy with some people to go to the circus. At all events, there was an assemblage of nearly six thousand people last right, that was composed of all manner of people, from the gamir, who had obtained his glimpe of glory by odd jous, to the beauty, fashion and wealth of the city. Judge Walton the Cause of It-His Highly Inflammatory Harangue at Pleasant Hill the Foundation for It.

The recent attempt at riot of certain Republican negroes of Hernando, Mississippi, has given rise to so much apprehension on the part of discreet and conservative people, that we deem it due to them, as well as to the great body of our people, to off r the fullest explanation for it that offers from a responsi ble and reliable source. It reached us last night in an advance copy of the Hernando Press and Times of to-day, in the shape of a report from the grand jury of DeSoto county—a grand jury, let us say, compose i of citizens well known for their probity and freedom from anything like the excreise of partisanship where general public interests are at We submit it as all-sufficient and all-convincing, and to ue, as 't must be to every fair-minded man, all satislying.

In entering upon in investigation of the unhappy occurrences of Monday, the eighteenth instant, your grand jury, composed as it is of members representing both races as well as both political parties, have striven to lay aside all party prejudice and to ascertain by most patient layor the true facts of the case. In this attempt they have examined under oatn this attempt they have examined under oath more than fifty witnesses, or whom perhaps one-fourth were white and three-fourths corone-fourth were white and three-fourths colored; of the whites several were Republicans; the blacks, it is baleved, all belonged to that party. Amid such a multitude of witnesses there were of course discrepancies as to I material points, and some condit the several points, and some condit the major there was a concurrence and almost unanimity of testimony, that leaves but little room for doubt as to the true history of the occurrence. There days before the riot there had been stoint political discussion at Fleavant Hill, in this county, be tween Colorei Van H. tressed to our own body, the colored people, to the number of six or seven hundres, began to pour in upon the public square, mounted and marching in organ zed companies around the courthouse, and shouting and vallingso loadly as almost to put a stop to the business of the court. After circling repeatedly around the building they proceeded to the ground prepared for the speaking, and took complete and exclusive poisession of the tev seats that had been prepared by some of the whites for their own use. At the restance of the whites Chancellor Campthe lestance of the whites Chancellor Camp-bill xplained to them that the seats had been b ll x plained to them that the seats had been prepared by the white people for their own use, but that they were willing to share them equally with the blacks. He therefore, requested them to vacate one half of the seats and designated a certain tree as marking the division line. The great mass of the blacks after some hesitation acceded to this request and withdrew beyond the tree, some of the blacks positively and defiantly refused to vacate. Just then the court having adjourned the whites began to arrive and take possession of the seats allotted them. One white man advanced toward the blacks who retained the seats allotted them. One of the blacks rising up grasped the stick and attempted to wrest! from him, an angry scuftle ensued, during walch the colored man was knocked down. The sharp crack of a pistel immediately ensued and this was followed by several more from the same direction. It has been found impossible to ascertain by whom several more from the same direction. It has been found impossible to ascertain by whom these shots were fired, but four-fiths of all the witnesses, black and white, examined by us, testified that they came from the colored portlon of the audience, a fact not difficult to determize, since the blacks, to the number of six or seven hundred, were all massed on one side of a dividing line, while the forty or fitty whites who had arrived sood upon the opposite side. Ten or fitteen shorts were fired in all. By these, two white men were shot through the clothing, in addition to Thomas Nicholis, dangerously, and John W. Woods, cally. The leader of one of the clubs—an exmember of the legislature and a colored man of great influence—stated that fearing that a difficulty would ensue he rejused to bring his club to Hernauco until he had exacted from each member an oath to leave his arms at home, and being asked why he feared a difficulty, he replied that it was in consequence of the representations he had heard of Judge Waiton's speech. We have been unable to ascertial by whom tuese orbeen unable to ascertain by whom these or-ders were issued. They were certainly at vaders were issued. They were certainly at va-riance with toe counsels of the Republican county committee and of the entire spirit of the canvass in this county previous to the speaking at Pleasant Hill. To their authors is directly traceable the innocent blood that was sher at Hernando. #### THAT MURDER.

Wright, was Killed, and Why.

From a reliable gentleman, an eye witness of the affair, we receive the following version of the Wright murder:

'About five o'clock latt Friday, A. Reaves, a joung man very drunk, arrived at Hamer's grocery on the Eerna do road, five miles from the city and attempted to raise a row with the clerks who were there, and drew a pixol on a negro in the store. Reaves then pls of on a negro in the store. Reaves then went out and asked Ben Wright, a colored went out and asked Ben Wright, a colored man who was sitting on his horse, who he was going to vote for. Wright said that was his business and he would vote for whoever he please? The reupon serves struck him with a pistod, and Wright jumping off the horse, picked hip a big sick. Reaves him fired, but missed Wright who persisted in his effort to avenge the blow. Reaves again firet, the bail this time striking Wright, who pursued the white man across the road and tried to strike him with a stack. As Wright was in the act of striking Reaves, Rh naes, who was sober, jumped out of his wagon, and saying he would not stand that, fied, Wright being struck by the ball fell, and the two white men ran away and have not been arrested."

YOM KIPPUR.

The Jewish Day of Atonement to be Celebrated To-Day - Significance of its observance.

The day of atonement, You Hakip-

The day of atonement, Yom Hakippurim, which is celebrated to-day by the i-raelies, and which, in accordance with Hebrew chronology, happens ou the terth day of the electrity month—ishri is regarded by israelites as the holiest of the year. A mohatically termed in the bible the subbath of Sabbaths, it imposes upon them the most serious obligations, for not only do they abstain from all worldly occupations. Increased devotional exercises, fervent pray rs, a conscientions retiring from the outer world, a rigid self ex unination, and an earnest and sincere atonement are to be the characteristics of that holy day. According to Jewith philosophy, the matitution of the day of atonement is founded upon the weakness, because man is a human being, and is liable to the failings of feal mo tality; upon the power, because man is formed in the image and likeness of God, parakes in a degree of his divine essence, combines spirits with matter, and is capable of subduing his that riel yearnines and lower propensiles by the strong will of his apilit. The day of atonement exemptifies, ther fore, there essential truths of Judiasm: First-Repentance is necessary to every one, bicause there is no one so good as not at some lime to Repentance is necessary to every one, breause there is no one so good as not at some time to comm t sin. Second—Gud is gracious, all merciful and forgiving; He desires not the death of the wicked, out rather that they may return to Him and live, therefore he pardons the truly repentant sinner and opens to him the sates of noral self-redemption. Man needs gates of moral self-redemption. Man needs no media or to go between him and his God no media or to go between him and his God; he, and he only, must an I can atone for his sins by *mending his conduct. Hence, the great reverence with which the Jews regard this day; not because they between that God is nearer to them on those days then at any other time in the year, his because they leet that by removing themselves for the time being from the thoughts and actions of the world they are inventu nearer to God and he seting from the thoughts and actions of the world they are brought nearer to God and be butter en-bled to conquer the desires of the dy, to elevate the qualities of the soul, and
